Ad-venture in Education-

Say It with Ads!

Here you are! This is our way of saying that our school is our life. Here in the halls of the Gold and Gray we learn to live in a modern world. Advertising today is the show window of all American life. This book is our show window pointing out our classes, our register rooms, our plays, our dances, our athletic contests, our art exhibition, our work, our study, and our play. Thus in the ensuing pages we give you a retrospect of the year 1941-1942 at Emerson High School, Gary, Indiana, to us the "biggest little spot on earth."

This picture was the cover for the January Scholastic Editor.

The Chinese, a very wise and a very brave people, say that one picture is worth a thousand words. Because we believe our allies have the right idea we have brought fine pictures to tell the story of the year. No words could suggest half so well as a picture the smart, snappy, at-attention stance of the R.O.T.C. flag detail; the grace and the coordination of the true athlete; the usual geniality of the faculty; the alertness of some students; the weariness of others; the utter loveliness of Emerson girls; the handsomeness of Emerson boys; the odd angles of the old school spots. Do we seem over-appreciative of ourselves? Maybe. Remember though that our slogan is "It pays to advertise."

Carmela Stramagha, outstanding girl athlete handles a hockey stick or a megaphone equally well . . . John Puligraph, outstanding boy athlete, in a pose we know well, calling the boys together as co-captain . . . Old Glory's rise begins our day with the proper ritual capably handled by the R.O.T.C. flag detail of Kenneth Keever, David Babagan, John Elloff, and George Davis.

These go well beyond the school. Loren Maurer draws a head on someone . . . Who couldn't step along with the pretty drum majorities — Rena McMahon, Jane Ann Legg and Betty June Roush? . . . Two candidates for the Hit Parade harmonizing — George Klimis and Nell Warda.

Our Champions

"Salt of the earth" and "the strength of Gibraltar" come quickly to mind as we think of our all-time champions, the faculty. Sometimes we disagree with these fine men and women who work so tirelessly (sounds like a pun in April, 1942) in our interests, but we can always count on their being our champions. As a matter of fact if they would allow us to handle the sugar ration cards, we would give them their weight in sweet each week!

Mr. Spaulding has done so much to make Emerson history, it is not possible to think of Emerson apart from him. Friend of student, teacher, and every employee on the grounds, he is as enthusiastic about the Gold and Gray today as he was on the day he first became principal. His favorite slogan is "Anything worth doing is worth doing well." To him the feature that advertises Emerson best is "the democratic spirit of good fellowship."

Our new assistant principal is Mr. Bohn. We hope he will be with us for a long time. Not new to us, Mr. Bohn has really come home again for he used to teach shop work here. He lived in the neighborhood his children attended the school. We're so glad he likes it for we certainly like him. His favorite slogan is "You will eventually. Who not now?" Emerson's best advertisement is the legend of Emerson himself, parole teacher, and parents according to Mr. Bohn.

FACULTY

A School is School Board

Members of the Gary School Board, or, as they are legally known, Board of School Trustees, are always busy. This year has set a new record in business for them with building inspections, inaugurating practices recommended by the Purdue Survey, buying wisely, planning for defense courses, registration, and sugar rationing. Because they work so hard and so efficiently, they command the respect and cooperation of all school employees.

Parent Council meetings have always been successful and this year has been no exception. In order to properly present student opinion on school matters, student leaders have been invited to attend and give their point of view. Tom Croll and Helen Dziurdzy presented the matter of student finances and explained the different activities which ask for financial support from the school population. At the meeting at which the picture on the opposite page was taken, Lucile Schwandt, social committee chairman, discussed the school's provision for the most popular form of student recreation, dancing. Mr. Robert Gordon, a member of Kiwanis, discussed this problem also.

Parents like to serve on this committee. Mrs. Fred Scheerer who is serving her second year says she is particularly grateful for the experience. She has had two children graduate from Emerson and has three children now attending. Hearing student opinion, Mrs. Scheerer says, has the effect of lessening the set ideas parents sometimes get. Getting first knowledge about educational practices is another feature which she likes. Mrs. G. R. Colley, a newcomer to Gary, says the Council has been the greatest help to her in knowing the school and in meeting other parents. This is Mrs. Colley's first year on the Council. She has two children attending Emerson.

Defense Calls: Tech Boys Answer

Our Technical Advisers

Gary Technical School was headed this year by the following leaders: William Thomas, president; Frank Petruska, secretary; Mrs. Wake, Mr. Garriot, and Mr. Witt, instructional staff.

According to Mrs. Wake, the technical school instructors realize they must do more than merely train a boy in manipulative skills. They provide some technical and some general educational background since the aim is to develop skilled mechanics who can fit into the complex situations found in present day industry. Not only must graduates be high grade industrial workers, but they must be part of the society that is constantly facing and solving new and difficult problems.

The program of the Gary technical classes is based upon individual responsibility and progress of the student in both shop and academic work. Naturally, some students attain, more quickly than others, a mastery of operations in machine and auto mechanics as well as in mathematics, English, and blue-print reading. These rapid workers may progress according to their natural ability, but the slower pupil is also given the opportunity for the mastery assigned work without demanding an unreasonable speed which would lead to failure. Pupils who are discouragingly slow have their programs adjusted to devote more time to a particular task so that progress in one subject may be aided while another subject may be delayed until the requirements of the trade course make it essential.

With these needs in mind, the following standards for trade courses have been set up:

The student must spend one-half of the school day, or one hundred eighty minutes per day, five days a week, nine months a year, in the shop of his trade on a useful or productive basis.

He must spend a minimum of thirty per cent of the school day in the study of related technical subjects. The remainder of the day is in the study of subjects of civic and vocational value.

This provides a well rounded program for the preparations of technical students to fill their very important place in the future.

Mathematics

Commerce

"Where particular minds congregate"

Two phases of work in mathematics are the development of principles and the application of them.

The principles of all the branches of the subject must be learned thoroughly, and successful achievement cannot be reached without the realization of the unity of all the branches.

The correct application of principles teaches the student to grow in the ability to accept responsibilities, to act accordingly, and to keep an open mind. Courses in mathematics foster logical thinking and the checking of all results.

Business education in secondary schools offers students a general knowledge of consumer buying and spending, conducting personal business, and the discharging of civic responsibilities. These courses prepare, to a certain point, a selected group for business occupations.

Front row: Miss Sherman, Mrs. Hayes, and Mr. Nowbray.

Learning by doing is the creed of the industrial arts. These practical subjects will have an immediate application in life, opening up numerous fields of vocational value.

Young architects and engineers are blossoming in mechanical drawing.

Painting, drawing, sculpturing, and art appreciation are the specialties of the art courses.

Cooking and sewing studied together as home economics are invaluable courses for tomorrow's homemakers, both boys and girls.

Many "twigs" are bent toward being carpenters in the manual training classes. They also create an all-round efficiency in dealing with future household repairs.

Foundry, auto and aviation shop, machine shop, and electric shop make a start in preparing a vast number of the technicians that are needed for the future.

Industrial arts have the prime purpose of coordinating the ideas and thoughts of an individual with the practical physical application of them.

It is not enough to have reasonable theories, we must be able to mould the ideas into a concrete action for actual benefit.

Technical training now; better foundation for future.

"A true patriot loves the trees and fields and expanse of wealth of his country, but it is more important for him to love the developed ideals which hold the nation together," says Professor Thomas H. Briggs. With this in mind, the social studies faculty develop student appreciation of our social heritage, ideals, and present policies. History presents a broad background; economics gives an insight into business and industry; civics is the understanding of governmental organization.

Collectively, these three further the understanding of modern problems and produce a vital and understanding social and political membership.

The present conflict is closely related to social science classes. Not sentimentality, but an understanding of our way of life and an all-out effort to preserve it will win.

We cannot advertise our way, The American Way of Life, unless we fully understand one product, our democratic government. It is our duty to gain this knowledge in social science classes so when our turn comes — we'll advertise with might by right.

Certainly the class is not looking the South American way in the top picture.

Civics class again with that far-away look.

Language Arts

"What the well-dressed mind will be wearing"

A thorough understanding and mastery of language is a potent force for good. It enables people to formulate their ideas in a way that is pleasing and understandable to others. Upon this medium, to a great extent, do nations base their hope of future social, political, and economic cooperation.

In addition to regular English class work the library is an important tool in putting vital information at public disposal, and in producing books for pleasurable reading.

Latin, French, and Spanish enrich our own language and broaden the understanding of it. Further, they furnish background and a knowledge of other people's problems in relation to our own. Spanish, now more than ever, is vitally important to foster a good neighbor policy.

Language Arts training is basic in all advertisement; for it makes good trade in ideas, sifting the best from the rest.

Specifically, science tries to build in us a habit of thinking in such a way that facts observed lead to correct conclusions. Moreover, that such conclusions lead to action which preserves our American civilization.

Particularly, biology stresses the effect of environment on people, and generally, the appreciation and enjoyment of being alive.

Chemistry deals with chemical effects and changes, accuracy in handling apparatus, and evaluation of facts.

Physics, dealing with mechanical effects, aids in the solving of problems in home and industry, as well as giving an understanding of commercial appliances.

Science today; victory tomorrow.

They Keep Emerson On Time

"Faithful and efficient forever" describes the services of our staffs who do the clerical work (and a million things more) in the offices of Mr. Bohn and Mr. Spaulding. Their patience is inexhaustible.

For favorite slogan, Miss Beveridge chooses "Something new has been added"; Miss Thomae, "You buy 'em, — We'll fly 'em; Miss Kupchik, "The pause that refreshes"; and Miss Link, "The voice with the smile wins."

Miss Thomae thinks Emerson's best ad is the alumni group, Miss Beveridge names for that honor our Art Gallery, while Miss Kupchik thinks our behavior at drinking fountains is our best ad. We never thought of that, but we'll watch.

Although Mrs. Jones has a much larger territory now than just Emerson, we feel she still belongs to us. We miss Mrs. Fonville and Mrs. Hoover.

Interests Inside and Out

Made "The Open Hearth"

The following high school students appeared in "The Open Hearth," a column conducted by Miss Frances Bowles, which appears weekly on the school page. Dorothy Kienzle, Eulene Reed, Marilyn Fink, Don Vincent, Harold Maxwell, Aurelia Gawlik, Bob Ferguson, Irene Palasz, Edward Thompson, Jeanne Anderson, Patricia Coleman, Naomi Kelley, and Nick Miller.

In conference: Must be users of Ipana for critically Angelo Lopez, Emily Piotek, and Bobby Alger have smile of health.

On the popular foot runners, sacred to Juniors and Seniors: Henry Jaske, Dot Simpson, James Maxwell, Beverly Pfile, Nick Miller, Mary Jane McNeely, and Bill Irwin. Bill is carrying a copy of "Young America."

Mr. Carlberg's 1:15 study at work. 'Tis true.

The Pause that Refreshes

Nothing could more adequately express the activities program than the slogan, "The Pause that Refreshes." In plays, contests, clubs, and other activities we develop all phases of our personality. Activities provide the ideal blend for work, study, and play, the basic concept of our Gary education.

Tom O'Leary and Mary O'Leary, members of the Student Body, are working on the yearbook.

Our Board of Control took part in Gary Tomorrow Day, November 14, in a big way. These school leaders represented us in every branch of city government. In addition, students reported for duty to twenty-nine firms of business and industry, dime stores to steel mills. To Mr. Carlberg, the sponsor, each student made a detailed report of the day's work. The following are quotations from these reports:

I have now fixed in my mind the process of making a law for the city of Gary.

Carmela Stramaglia, member, city council

I would favor an immediate movement for a strong centralized government such as the city manager plan.

Lewis Simmons, secretary to the mayor

Everything went fine that first few hours, and then I had myself a fire drill. Later in the afternoon, I expelled a girl for ditching.

Tom Croll, Emerson principal

Taking care of Gary is no small housekeeping job.

Ed Burns, city hall custodian

Something new was added in the conferring of student leaders with the Parent Council.

The vivacious Miss Fife and Chairman Bill Mathe directed the Booster Committee whose members sold candy, apples, pins, and pen-nants in their "All Out for Everything" campaign.

The Building and Grounds Committee insisted on halls being "all clear" all day. For the well-ordered halls and courteous monitors, thanks are due to Carmela Stramaglia, chairman, and Miss Ban, sponsor.

Keeping Emerson scholastically fit is the job of the scholarship committee which makes a monthly report on honor roll and eligibility. Each register is represented on the committee headed by Kathryn Colleran, chairman, and Miss Talbot, sponsor.

Miss Reynolds and Lucile Schwandt captained the Social Committee which reached a new high with seventeen evening dances. One of the highlights of the year was the inter school dance, held May 9 at Memorial. This committee also donated fifty dollars to the yearbook. Were we grateful!

Auditorium Accents Personality

In our auditorium hour and activities we bring to each other our knowledge and interests from other classes; we conduct our own meetings, learning Roberts' Rules the best way, by doing; we hear great music; we sing the songs of our own day and the mighty melodies of the past; we become for the while Robinson Crusoes, the Wise Men, Penrods, Francois Villons, Hamlets, and Ophelias; we discuss our school and community problems; we satisfy our creative urges on Student Talent Days; we commemorate the glorious days of our nation's history. Thus do we become worthwhile citizens of Emerson, of Gary, of Indiana, of the United States, of the world.

"Goodnight Ladies"

Jane and Helen Rawleigh, two coeds, were the focal points of this rib-tickling farce. Needing money desperately, they plan to transform their house into a dormitory. Before they can meet the mortgage in this way, however, they must have two reliable chaperones approved by the college dean. Receiving word that their two aunts could not arrive in time to receive authorization and assume their duties before the opening of the college term, the girls impressed into immediate service Sam and Jug Brown deceive Dean Eggleby. The efforts of the hoys to be the aunts were heroic but the Dean was not deceived. Before the end, as in all regulation fairy tales and good farces, the kind, gentle Professor Baxter comes to the aid of the pretty coeds.

Top picture: Before the matinee with Mrs. Daley putting the finishing make-up touches. Who ever would have thought that Mary Sivak's chin was heavy enough to require the assistance of Stanley and Ed. You're right, boys, we're jealous. The package of Argo Starch is a neat touch. We feel we must mention it because of our theme.

SENIOR PLAY MEET

Top left and below: Mrs. Palmer, director; Edward Madden, the would-be Sir Harry Simms; Bettie Beddingfield, Kate; Dan Sekulovich, the Simms butler. Making choices for the senior play meet was no easy task. At Horace Mann School on March 10 we gave J. M. Barrie's The Twelve Pound Look with Ed Madden playing the colossally egotistical gentleman, Harry Simms; Bettie Beddingfield portrayed the super-dainty wife. Kate was played by Charlene Randolph.

Of these dramatic artists, Edward Madden and Jack Bryan represented us at the city meet, held at Horace Mann, November 7. Edward presented a dramatic sketch from Grapes of Wrath, "Two for a Penny," while Jack gave the declamation, "Americanism" by Ernest W. Gibson. In addition to the splendid student presentations, the audience was thrilled by Dean Ralph Dennis of Northwestern University, who read and commented upon excerpts from the late Thomas Wolfe's You Can't Go Home Again.

There reigned a poetical atmosphere in the Horace Mann auditorium on the evening of May 27; at seven o'clock the Poetry Meet began. Representatives of Emerson were: Lorraine Alamsha, Bob Moise, Herman Dinkin, Betty Turak, Tiffany Moss, Charlene Randolph, Marguerite Toigo, Loretta Ciesielski, Gloria Angotti, Zoe George, Joan Cage, Phyllis Underwood, and Margie Surowiec.

Poetry Meet

Gavel Club

In our school there exists an honorary music and dramatic organization known as The Mask and Gavel Club. Membership requires participation in a majority of the auditorium activities; for each activity a student receives a specified number of points. If the points at the end of the senior year add up to the required number the student has a good chance of receiving membership. Those who have done outstanding work in the auditorium department and have attained those qualities required are given recognition by the unanimous vote of the auditorium faculty.

On May 26, Tuesday at 6:30 in the Emerson cafeteria, the members were initiated at a banquet where pins were presented, symbols of achievement. The sponsor of this organization is Miss Hazel E. Harrison, auditorium head.

"After the war, what?" This was the discussion topic presented by the Emerson members of the discussion team. The city-wide discussion meet was staged on the evening of Thursday, April ninth, at seven p. m. at Horace Mann School. The team was composed of Marguerite Toigo, Bob Moise, Louis Simmons, Loretta Ciesielski, and Herman Dinkin. Other schools represented were Horace Mann, Lew Wallace, Froebel, Tolleston, Edison, and Roosevelt. The meet was conducted by a chairman from Horace Mann School, Lillian Berg.

MISS KOTORA

This year's Boys' Band was one of the best in the twenty-two years that Mr. Warren has directed. The "pep band" really made the students "come a-running" to Booster Club sessions. This organization also played for the benefit basketball games between the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team and the St. Joseph team. Eating was another of the boys' talents, which showed at their Christmas Party, devouring huge quantities of pop and doughnuts.

Unsung heroes of the band were the huggers, John Wotherpoon, Mary Sharp, Sheldon Green, and Ned Miller, who accompanied the raising and the lowering of the flag every morning and afternoon.

The features of the band at the annual concert were a clarinet duet by Henry Gordon and James Skingley, a cornet solo by Jack McMahon and a trombone solo by Edward Kallock. Mr. Bobele completed his ninth year as assistant director of the Boys' Band and director of the Intermediate Band.

Officers of the Boys' Band were: president, Alex Lucich; vice-president, Edward Kallock; manager, James Walker; assistant manager, Stanley Vlarich; librarian, Dan Simion; assistant librarian, Ted Nowakowski; property manager, John Wotherpoon; secretary, De Von Cunningham; assistant secretary, Louis Simmons; and horn cleaner, Dan Mercer.

The Girls' Concert Band also directed by Mr. Warren, and one of the few girls' bands in the country, had a very successful year. Miss Kotora, the assistant director, completed her seventh year with the Girls' Band.

Both the cornet trio by Mary Sharp, Irene Kuchta, and Phyllis Salfran, and the trombone solo by Dorothy Oeth, were enthusiastically received by the audience at the annual concert.

Officers of the Girls' Band were: president, Mary Sharp; vice-president, Betty Fogler; manager, Irene Kuchta; assistant manager, Audrey Gardner; secretary, Isabelle McGregor; librarian, Louise Rhoades; property manager, Lomadell Leech; assistant property manager, Daisy Shahaz.

The Emerson Concert Orchestra, under the supervision of Mr. Warren and Miss Kotora, finished the year very satisfactorily. At both concerts the performances was excellent, including such features as a rendition of the famous "Slavonic Rhapsody No. 1," by Friedeman, at the winter concert, and "Slavonic Rhapsody No. 2," by the same composer, at the spring concert. Several other highly-acclaimed numbers were a violin solo by Harold Alterwitz, a flute duet by Marian Menzie and Sarah Garner, and several beautiful piano solos by the president, Nell Warda.

The Little Symphony, composed of about thirty-five of the better players in the orchestra, contributed their talents to such school activities, as class plays, Honor Society inductions, and many other programs. The orchestra ended its season playing for Commencement.

Officers of the Concert Orchestra were president, Nell Warda; vice-president, Dan Mercer; manager, June Romans; assistant manager, Arleigh Long; secretary, Evelyn Lane; librarian, Loma Dell Leech; assistant librarian, Marion Menzie; property manager, Lloyd Hamang; assistant property manager, James Walker.

The story goes that you can tell an army man from all the rest on the street even though said army man is in civilian clothes. How can you tell? Ask the R.O.T.C. Incessant emphasis on posture and carriage is included in their daily program of military science, tactics, and regulations which is masterfully taught by our staff of regulars. Emerson's Clubs Now Come in Four Neat Packages

Our socialites really spent an eventful evening at the F.A.B. and the Tri-Sigma Formal Dance on February 7, 1942. It has been the custom for each of the two clubs to hold separate dances; but this year a "twin" dance was arranged. Appropriate to the month of February, hearts and cupids served as decorations for the "Cupid's Ball." The double line was led by Diane Orlich, president of the Tri-Sigma and Delphine Smith, president of the F.A.B. The biggest event was the conga line with the proper music furnished by the "Melody Masters." Mrs. Pierce and Miss Tappan, sponsors, looked on approvingly.

Tri-Sigma's social year started off with a bang at the Halloween dance held at the Y.M.C.A. The music for this festive occasion was supplied by a juke-box. Following this gay celebration came a Thanksgiving Party held in the club room. This affair was a pot-luck. In the spring a drive was held for the sale of Defense Stamps. The fall initiation was held in the home of Betty Turak, vice president and social chairman of the club; the spring initiation was held in the home of Diane Orlich, president.

The F.A.B., the oldest girls' club of Emerson, has an annual custom of feting all freshmen girls at the "Freshmen Tea." At this tea, girls who are interested in knowing what's what at Emerson really get the information.

Heads of the various organizations identify themselves and their groups. Sweet, indeed, was the F.A.B. candy sale. The profit of this year's sale was one of the largest. Marilyn Quin and Marcy Pfeil thought the candy was good. Oops! I mean the candy sale. Marion Plummer, chairman of the formal dance committee, did an excellent job in making the "Cupid's Ball" a big success.

If you should happen to peek in at the Y.M.C.A. on a night that an Emerson Hi-Y Party is scheduled, you would be surprised at the amount of fun. Dancing is the main attraction on these occasions, but often games play a big part in the success of these parties. Wayne McKinney was president of this year's organization; Richard Lee, vice-president; George Nabhan, secretary-treasurer; James Coros, sergeant-at-arms.

The Roselette Club, which is the only freshman-sophomore club at Emerson, proved that freshies and sophs can have just as good a club as the upper classmen. Their activities are chiefly social. The biggest event of the year was the formal initiation, which was held in the club-room. The following were officers of the club this year: Phyllis Miller, president; June Townsley, vice-president; Patricia Egan, secretary; Patricia Coleman, treasurer; Miss Jones, sponsor.

Staff Plugs '42 "Emersonian"

We chose as our campaign slogan, "Forty-two is the book for you," having determined on that and several other plans in our three summer meetings.

At our annual benefit show, Friday, October 3, Alex Crossman was master of ceremonies, doing his usual best, which brings down the house any old day. Other entertainers were Diane Orlich and Margaret MacKenzie, songbirds; "The Worm Turns," a gay giddy offering by Mrs. Palmer's Dramatic Club; Irene Kuchta, accordionist; Rena McMahon and Jane Ann Legg, twirlers; and Harold Alterwitz, violinist. Our good friends had donated the usual number of attractive door prizes, which, true to form, were won by boys when they should have gone to girls, and vice versa. But who are we to change Fate? Besides, nothing delights the audience more than a girl winning suspenders and a boy winning a compact.

On October 29, starting at 1:15 and ending with a dance in the Girls' Gym after the banquet, we held a publications conference. Eight Gary schools' publication staffs were in attendance. Professor John E. Stempel of Indiana University was the speaker at the banquet, at which Edward Madden presided. The speakers at the conference preceding the dinner were Mr. Horace Ward, Mr. Joe Janowski, Mr. Hoyt Hurst, Mr. Joe Todd, and Mr. Fred Noer. Mary Gregor was general chairman.

After the selling campaign ended on Friday, February 15, we dug in deep to pull out the elusive adjectives, adverbs, and verbs that tell our story.

The Social Committee gave us a donation of fifty dollars. The Dramatic club not only put on the skit for us, but they bought the scripts. The art classes made posters for us. Dorothy Messina, Matilda Helwig, Betty Lou Page, and Ruth Wellman directed eighty girls in candy sales for our benefit. We say our hearty thanks to all of these and to Miss Reynolds, Miss Sherman, Miss Ban, and students and faculty who have helped us in producing this year's book.

Football

Coach Rolfe, veteran member of the Emerson coaching staff led the 1942 football varsity close to victory in the city championship race. "Tough, but oh so gentle" is the ad which the fellows say best describes A. J. Besides steak dinners, his favorite dish is a winning team served with the N.H.S.C. crown, topped off with the skill in coaching, the boys rate him high as a real friend.

When Coach Moore left for the Navy, Coaches Rolfe and Connelley took over the basketball team which made heavy duty for all with regular classes, football, class teams, and track. Coach Connelley is the youngster of the department, but there is nothing young about his cross country and track techniques. We note no trace of his usual bashfulness when he is out clocking his boys or showing them how something should be done.

Coach Werner we welcome as our newest addition to the group of Emerson mentors. Fondly known as "Pop," Coach Werner in addition to his regular classes in physical training, teaches safety and sponsors the Patrol Boys. You will find his picture on page 57.

"Go, Emerson, go!" Yes, the 1942 football team really went "all out" to compile this line record.

Emerson 0	Proviso 0	Emerson 6	Rockford 6
Emerson 20	Hammond 12	Emerson 6	Lew Wallace 19
Emerson 14	Washington E. C. 0	Emerson 34	Horace Mann 12
Emerson 19	Crown Point 7	Emerson 54	Tolleston 7
Emerson 21	Froebel 0

Tornado Did Fight

Climaxing a very successful season the Golden Tornado held their annual football banquet on November 27, and not a man was missing! The guests of the banquet were two former Emerson stars: Tom Kuzma, Michigan's star sophomore successor of Harmon, and Bob Johnson, top Big Nine Conference center from Purdue. Lyle Button was presented with the most valuable player award of the Gary High Schools. Russell Bailey and George Mihal were elected co-captains for '12 to succeed John Paligraph and Ed Carnahan.

Many thoughts also found their way to Emerson's battle scarred old gym: shower room, dressing room, rows of double deck lockers; running out to the field on a sparkling day, feeling like passing the pigskin a mile, kicking it twice that far, overtaking it, and making a spectacular catch. What memories!

The Golden Tornado opened the '41 season on September 15 holding the tough Proviso Tiger Outfit, champs of Chicago's Suburban League, to a scoreless tie.

On September 20 the Terrific Tomado "blitzed" a bewildered Hammond Wildcat eleven 20-12.

Came September 29 and they continued their winning ways, sweeping over a highly touted Washington of East Chicago team, 14-0.

The Tornado, handicapped by a wet and slippery field, overcame the fighting Crown Point Bulldogs 19-6 on the Bulldog's home field on October 4, 1941.

On October 11 Froebel fell before the pulverizing power of the Golden Tornado, 21-0.

On October 18, Emerson traveled to Rockford and came home with a 6-6 tie even though it was raining rats and dogs.

October 25 is a significant date in the Jolting Tornado's history. They suffered their first and only defeat of the season by the eventual State Champions, the Lew Wallace Homets. Score: 19-6.

As a tonic for their first reverse, the Fighting Tornado came back on November 5 and rolled over the Horsemen of Horace Mann, 54-12.

On November 15, the Terrific Tom-toms of the Tornado unleashed their greatest array of offensive weapons of the season in their final game, annihilating Tolleston 54-7.

In both these games it seemed that Emerson had so much stock in the goal line that they could camp on it whenever they pleased.

Final standing, 6 wins, 2 ties, 1 loss.

Carry on, you Tornadoes!

We tangle with Lew Wallace . . . Byers in the Proviso game . . . Martha leads the cheerleaders on the bus top . . . We give a yell as the boys start for Rockford . . . Martin Paligraph all alone in the cold at Wallace . . . As crowds come, this is a section of a pretty neat turnout at the Wallace game.

In praising the varsity, we must not forget that our reserve team deserved a lot of credit too. They achieved the reserve championship, as can be seen by their fine record. The first team included the following boys:

Ends: Harold Maxwell — a fancy boy on defense and offense. James Orr — played his best game against Froebel when he caught five out of six passes.

Tackles: William Swanson — most consistent tackler on the team. Robert Joseph — 220 pound bundle of woe for opponents.

Guards: James Coros — won first place in "guards pulling out" in a field day contest. Andy Rhetoric — doing good work in scrimmages with varsity.

Center: Millard Trivanovich — made record of no bad centers during season.

Quarterback: Elmer Eckstrom — captain and hustler of the team.

Halfbacks: James Maxwell — used deception by being left-handed passer, led scoring. William Plunkett — longest run against Froebel — 80 yards.

Fullback: Tony Cifaldi — good line smasher and good smile flasher.

This team was very effectively bolstered by the efforts of Dan Ciarfalia, Tommy Burns, Norman Rabbi, Edward Shively, Milton Barker, Joe Botsko, Bill Cenduso, Mark Johnston, Jack Owen, Aristide George, Conrad Kuzma, James Renn, and Arnold Cook.

The upper left and the upper right and the last picture are some more shots of the Wallace game — must have been a good night for cameras . . . The center picture shows some of the boosting crowd that flowed right out of the auditorium on to the playing field to let the boys know they were boosting hard . . . Our peppy cheerleaders behind the megaphones in the lower left picture.

Norm Wery thought the boys would finish next to last place in the Western Division of the N.I. I.L.S.C. They disproved those words by landing in first division by the end of the season.

Hammond, Froebel, and Horace Mann were losses. Then came the Hammond-Clark game which, with Jumping Johnny Sheperd's pacing, we won 29-25. Two days later, the Norse cut loose with some sizzling basketball to blitz Wabash, 58-20. Continuing the string of victories, Emerson chalked a win over Washington of East Chicago. Then a week of down sweeps with our losing to Hammond Tech, 15-57. Tolleston, 50-52, and Horace Mann, 55-22. Next a spine tingling triumph over Roosevelt of East Chicago, 55-54, was had, but the Norsemen followed with a loss to Froebel in an overtime game, 50-51.

On January 50 Emerson turned on the heat against the raiders of Tolleston with a net result of 55-22. A victory, 45-44, went to Berne on its home floor, February 2. This edge for Berne came in the last 50 seconds of play.

of Coach Eddie Moore's going to the Navy. This impetus made the team bring home a score of 58-20 over Valparaiso. Continuing the vow, the boys beat the Whiting Oilers, 56-54. Although they worked valiantly, the "vow boys" lost to LaPorte, 40-51, but came back by beating Lew Wallace, 45-21, and Valparaiso, 52-26.

In the Holiday Tournament the Norsemen were taken by Froebel and Lew Wallace. In the Sectionals the boys triumphed over Chesterton, Hebron, and Tolleston, but lost to Horace Mann in the final game, to close the season which was much more successful than had been anticipated, despite the lack of championship flavoring.

One of the traditional features of the basketball season at Emerson is the game in which the Ins play the Outs. The Ins are the boys who will be here next year and the Outs are those who will be lost through graduation. Confidence lit the stage when the Outs matched their long forged skill against that of the on-coming Ins, to show them how much training and hardening they needed. The result was not expected. The Ins out-shot, out-maneuvered, and outclassed the Outs. The finale was 51-35. The Outs won to the extent that they had proof that the Emerson tradition in sports would be ably carried on by these stalwarts.

Fighting for the Ins were Mihal, Hovanec, Romans, Olis, Swan, and Bernat. Defending the Outs were McConnell, Byers, Kostel, Burns, Shepherd, and Frankowski.

Reserves Make Record

Sixteen wins in eighteen contests! There you have the very impressive record of those unsung heroes — The Reserves.

Starting against Roosevelt of East Chicago with an easy 25-15 victory, they swept over Lowell 40-30 and Whiting, 55-28, before feeling the first stings of defeat which were provided by a powerful Michigan City Five, 22-20. The score tells a story of the nip and tuck progress of the game.

Then followed another string of victories. These valiants roasted Roosevelt of East Chicago again, 30-25; toppled Tolleston, 24-20; walloped Lew Wallace 25-9; crept by Crown Point, 22-20; and murdered Morton of Hammond before losing their second game, 31-37, to Whiting, a return engagement.

Then came the storm the fans are still talking about. Froebel fell, 50-26; Tolleston tumbled, 22-47; Froebel, 29-26; Lew Wallace beaten 51-8.

In the final chapter the Mighty Michigan City fell 55-29 before an avalanche of baskets, thus avenging the earlier chapter of record. "Three times and out" worked in the case of Tolleston with a win of 56-21. Mann was mauled 27-10 and a dive-bomb on Wallace ended with a score of 28-9.

Nice going!

A taste of glory at a young age is the making of a leader. Thus with seventeen wins and only two defeats the frosh are in the leader-making business on a large scale. Their armor is now built for next year. Then we shall enjoy seeing them polish it as reserves, getting ready for the test beyond, the regulars.

Cross Country and Track

Distinct Blends of Dash, Distance and Deliberation

This year's cross-country team, captained by Ed Burns, may well be proud of the season's record. Teams which lost to the Emerson harriers were Horace Mann, Lew Wallace, Washington, E. C., Roosevelt, E. C., Lowell, Culver Military Academy, and Hammond-Clark. The only meets lost were to Hammond High and Lane Tech, the Chicago Champions.

Excellent performances were turned in by Ed Burns, James Dumigan, Tom Croll, Spiro Cappyon, Stanley Frankowski, Gene McVety, James Ginn, John O'Connor, and Benny Bizek. Several of these endurance boys are newcomers to the team, but under the guidance of Coach Connelly, their ability was brought forth to help the team achieve its fine record.

Last year's Conference winner, Ed Burns was the individual star, winning seven first places in dual meets.

The Emerson track team began the season fairly well by tying for second place with Lew Wallace at the Quadrangular Meet on March 16. On March 21, Emerson lost to North Side of Fort Wayne. Then Coach Connelly's boys took third place in the Gary Indoor Meet on March 24 and sixth place on March 28 at the Froebel Invitational Meet at Notre Dame. Following this our luck turned, and the freshman and sophomore team beat Chesterton on April 4. Six days later, Hohart howed to our thin clads. Continuing this string of victories, the Emerson tracksters, on April 14, took one from Washington, E. C. At the Triangular meet on April 18, Emerson came in second.

As we go to press, we get word that the boys came in third in the East Chicago Relays, April 25. Highlight of this meet for the "E" boys was the breaking of the medley relay record of last year by six seconds making the new record 8:16.6. Anderson, Plunkett, Cifali, and Burns were the team. The two mile relay was won by McVety, O'Connor, Cifali, and Burns. In the half mile relay, we were fifth with Anderson, Kolettis, Gasper, and McLaughlin running. Zeman tied for third in the pole vault. The team shot putters, Mihai, Corwin, and Sobal had a second in this event. A fourth in the team broad jump went to Paligraph, Dumigan, and George. In the football relay, Swan, Manos, Rhetoric, and Miller had a fourth also.

The turnout for track has been unusually large this year. Another significant fact is the great number of underclassmen getting their starts to make future track history for the Gold and Gray.

In Tennis Love is Nothing

The tennis team this year started out with flying colors by crushing Hammond Clark 5-0. It then tied with Washington in the conference game and lost in the play off 3-2. Emerson, playing an undecisive game with Blue Island, was finally forced to discontinue the game due to prevailing darkness. The team will be back next fall stronger than ever with the exception of its captain, John Gutowski. Members of the team are as follows in successive seniority.

Add Your Body to Your Budget

With melodious strains from Melody Masters Orchestra the G.A.A. banquet, held on May 29, 1941, will remain a bright spot to all those present. The winner of the loving cup became plural since two girls were found with the same outstanding qualities. Pauline Hammako, with 2800 points, and Helen Polmchak, with 2500 points, were the happy receivers. Mildred Organ, freshman, was recognized for making 1,000 points.

Miss Viola Vogt left us to get married and settle down in Columbus. Now we have Mrs. Bessler pitching for us.

Big-sister — little-sister party rolled out a path for the G.A.A. social events. Pledges had to serve their rushers for one week during initiation. "Robie" got a daily supply of fudge. Our hard times party on St. Pat's day was a turnout of latest vogues. Games were played and seniors were awarded lollipops for first place. The best dressed bum of the evening, "Pat" Walker, passed her chocolates to fellow sophomores. On May 30, at the G.A.A. banquet, honors, monograms, and new officers took the limelight.

Hockey

One hundred twenty-five strong the G.A.A. started the hockey season fighting against shin bruises and bitter blasts. From this number, Helen Kuchta, head of hockey, and team managers picked the four class variety teams. Evelyn Biernat was freshman captain; Blanche Sacketos captained the sophomores; Loretta Sawa managed the junior team to inter-class victory; Dorothy Batalis led seniors to a close second. Juniors had high honors by scoring over the seniors in a tie game for the championship.

Topping the successful season a hockey spread was held. Delicious food, steaming cocoa, and the proud juniors made it a gala affair.

These mermaids don't mind getting their hair all wet for the sake of old King Neptune and Emerson. Miss Fife and Mrs. Bessler, the co-sponsors, opened the 1942 swim session with Janis Shuster, head of swimming. High spot of the team was the Telegraphic Meet held on April 10. These girls swim against time and the school with the lowest average of time is the victor. Louise Meers entered the 20 yard crawl race and Marilyn Lee swam in the 20 yard racing-back event. Margaret Collieran is freshman captain; sophomores have Blanche Sacketos; juniors boast of Blanche Predaina captain and daredevil Janis Shuster heads seniors.

Kathleen McGuire was chosen the most promising freshman. The freshies not only have an abundance of enthusiasm but also a wealth of aquatic talent. Alice Condo steps in the lead for outstanding diving. Again the four lathesome figures of Schwandt, Laird, Lee, and McGuire splash their way to the finishing mark of the interclass races. "Practice makes perfect" and they are by the time the inter-school races with Froebel, Wallace, and Horace Mann are under way.

All Time Basketball Champs

Dorothy Batalis

Dorothy Komorowski

Irene Kuchta

Delphine Smith

Carmela Stramaglia

A tiny basketball tells the story for these six girls. Miss Reynolds presented the basketballs to them on Friday, March 13, as a token for what they have accomplished not only this year, but the four years they played, laughed, and scored together.

These six-scoring aces have been victorious in every game played in intramural varsity contests. Delphine Smith, Helen Nowak and Dorothy Komorowski put more splashes in the bucket than all the Coke ads in the magazines. Irene Kuchta, Carmela Stramaglia, and Dorothy Batalis pursued their forwards all over the floor.

The class of '39' voted them as the most promising freshmen in the G.A.A. Not only were they excellent in athletic ability, but are also leaders on the G.A.A. board.

This year's tryout for basketball was as big a boom as boys' basketball. Helen Nowak, head of basketball, had a hectic time picking out the four class varsity teams. Managers of the varsity teams were: Adeline Kuchta, freshman; Catherine Sefton, sophomore; Mildred Zimonovich, junior; Josephine Genduso, senior team. Freshies and juniors broke even in the intramural games. Sophs won three games; lost one. The senior varsity team conquered all their opponents. Adeline Kuchta is stepping into the shoes of her sister, Irene, as a crack guard. "Taffy" Sefton sinks them when she puts her height to it. The Dziurdzy-Kerlin combination made Horace Mann guards woozy. A mixture of the six sharp shooters and the other senior players gave bitter memories to other varsity teams. "Iris" Genduso gave Horace Mann a dose of her one hand shooting.

Our Four Highs

The wise ones say the four highs are these: I Hands, I Head, I Health, and I Heart. We agree but we would like to add the Super Seniors, the Jolly Juniors, the Sharp Sophomores, and the Fascinating Freshmen.

Some of our very happiest Emerson memories are those connected with our particular class. We remember our own class best because we knew them best since we worked and played together — dancing, boosting class plays and teams, picking orchestras, decorating for parties and dances, selecting class leaders, and doing the many things that need to be done to bind a class together.

Our heads, our hands, our hearts, and our health will always be at the call of "Good old Emerson!"

CLASSES

The Frosh Flavor Lasts

The officers of the freshman class were Adeline Kuchta, president; Melvin Tippy, vice-president; Tom Thompson, secretary; Betty Collie, girls' treasurer; and Chester Bokich, boys' treasurer. Sponsors of the freshman class were Mrs. Palmer, chairman, Miss Sayers, Mrs. Daley, Miss Sherman, Mr. Wise, Mrs. Wirt, Miss Rowe, Miss Kitora, Miss Croner, Miss Harrison, Mr. Rolfe, and Mr. Carlberg.

The Freshman Frolic was held on March 13, Friday, ignoring the Friday the 13th taboo. The Irish theme of St. Patrick's Day was carried out fully, even to the extent of having green punch and cookies. Even the rain that fell that night failed to keep these Freshies from the party, although it did carry out the much celebrated jinx, "Friday the thirteenth." Heading the committees for the Frolic was Alice Condo. Those on the committees were Helen Brickley, Ann Bucko, Anna Belle Reily, Mary Lou Ramage, Kenneth McCall, Bill Elwood, Adeline Kuchta, Tom Thompson, Donna Thrasher, Sara Garner, Elaine Glenn, Margaret Keirn, Rosemary Komlenich, Julian Kaplan, Rudolph Toth, and Howard Edelson.

The "Breakfast of Champions" must be included in the diet of the freshman boys basketball team because they went right out and won city championship for themselves. On the team were Bill Levack, George Costley, George Zayats, Nick Miller, George Casper, and Nick Pantinas.

Others prominent in athletics were Evelyn Bier nat, Doris Reaves, Beatrice Trimble, Adeline Kuchta, Kathleen McGuire, Dona Little, Theresa Motta, Anna Belle Reily, Elaine Rubis, Betty Steagall, Jeanne Anderson, Mary Angotti, Betty Aton, Betty Bahilla, Janice Brink, Patsy Burget, Betty Collie, Alice Condo, Mavis Copley, Shirley Crow, Rosemary Crumley, Mary Dotlich, Roma Evans, Orlean Finnerty, Dolores Gile, Kathleen Gram, Angeline Cappony, and Margaret Collieran of the girls, and Bill Levack, Bob Kemp, John Chontos, Julian Kaplan, Louis Magrames, Jimmy Ludington, Ned Miller, Clifton McKee, Henry Kwilas, Harold Keith, James Hilton, Bruce Ness, and Joe Zeman of the boys.

Dramatic ability was shown by the following freshmen: Sara Garner, Carolyn Locke, Lois Mayes, Billy McBride, Eddie Kieft, Ned Miller, Chester Bokich, Melvin Tippy, Regina Haj, Frances Kolkowski, Anna Irzyk, Dolores Irzyk, Marie Kostoff, Theresa Motta, Dolores Hile, Kathleen McGuire, Anna Belle Reily, Betty Steagall, Consuela Garcia, Wanda Chaja, Patsy Burget, Gloria Dolato, Antoinette Cefali, Ann Bucko, Jeanne Anderson, Dorothy Davis, and John Shepherd.

Musically inclined are Ned Miller, Ann Bucko, Helen Brickley, Jeanne Anderson, Betty Bahilla, Consuela Garcia, Barbara Prokopp, Mary Lou Whiteside, Betty Steagall, Adeline Kuchta, Enid Noise, Dolores Hile, Dorothy Lewandowski, Bernice Mierzenkowski, Lillian Klagawa, Mann Tabor, John Raysses, Tommy Thompson, Stockton Cowen, Louis Magrames, Ted Mohr, Ned Miller, Eugene Griffith, Kenneth McCall, Sara Garner, Faye Behr, and Rosemary Komlenich.

The class motto, "Green but growing," was selected by a committee headed by Rudolph Romischer. The class colors are green and white. The class flower is the white chrysanthemum selected by a committee whose chairman was Consuelo Garcia.

Sophs Shine Like Stars

Sponsored by Mr. Warrum, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Reyher, Miss Gwinn, Miss Smith, Mr. Warren, Mr. Garriott, Mrs. Stoner, Miss Fife, Mr. Bobele, and Mrs. Hayes, chairman, the sophomore class proved they were ready to step up and take their place as upper-classmen.

Their excellent officers were William Biernat, president; John Kolettis, vice president; Tony Cifaldi, secretary; Jane Colley, girls' treasurer; and Martin Paligraph, boys' treasurer.

The Sophomore Hop was held on April 17, in the girls' gymnasium. The theme of the dance was "April showers bring May flowers." Big events of the evening were the conga chain led by Angela Lopez and Ray Santona, and acrobatics by Tom Hampton. Sponsor of the dance was Mrs. Reyher. General chairman of the committees for the Hop was Jane Colley. Those on the separate committees were Marian Fickes, Ellen Jean Kiern, Patsy Egan, Patty Coleman, chairman of bids and programs committee, Aurelia Gawlik, Gene McVety, Rose Gold- man, Dolores Anderson, Arlene Graham, Larry Miller, chairman of music and entertainment, Don Vincent, Doris Nikhevich, Rose Margaret Keilman, Shirley Owen and John Kolettis, co-chairman of decorations, Phyllis Miller, Catherine Selton, Ann Parthun, Dorothy Baess, Harold Maxwell, Wayne McKinney, Tony Cifaldi, Martin Paligraph, Ray Santona, chairman of refreshments, Bernard Olis, Aristide George, and Dan Ciarfalia.

The sophomore play, "Penrod," was presented on October 17, with Loren Maurer in the title role.

Sophomores active in athletics were Marilyn Lee, Mildred Organ, Mary Gibbons, Marian Fickes, Catherine Sefton, Ellen Jean Kiern, Dorothy Gibbons, Aurelia Gawlik, Wayne McKinney, Gene McVety, John O'Connor, Eli Yaksich, George Sopko, and John Kolettis, to name a few.

Talent, dramatical, was displayed by Helen Reynolds, Eulene Reed, Shirley Owen, Dorothy Puinti, Dessie Spiros, Zoe George, Larry Miller, Don Vincent, Joe Sikora, and Glenn Holmes.

Students with good scholastic records are Eulene Reed, Phyllis Miller, Clara Meneakis, Shirley Owen, Edith Potter, Eleanor Rysz, Blanche Sacketos, Phyllis Saffron, June Townsley, Jane Colley, Ellen Jean Kiern, Dorothy Puinti, Mary Wolfington, Charlotte Darding, Elinor Urban, Marguerite Togo, Norma Aronson, Patty Coleman, Alice Austin, Agnes Karaffa, Mary Ann Gordon, Marilyn Fink, Catherine Coveris, Leo Roth, John Pechukevich, John O'Connor, and Bob Ferguson.

The sophomores chose as their class colors, blue and gold. Their choice for class flower was the iris. Motto of the class is "God defends the right."

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Martha Hannan, president
James Swan, vice-president
Gordon Gerbick, secretary
Joann Little, girls' treasurer
Fred Schieb, boys' treasurer

Never has a more popular and sprightly crop of juniors been seen by the public. They showed their good judgment by selecting as officers, president, Martha Hannan; vice-president, James Swan; secretary, Gordon Gerbick; girls' treasurer, Joann Little; and boys' treasurer, Fred Schieb.

They proved their salesmanship and advertising ability on April 10, Rose Day. Guided by the sponsors, Miss Adele Tappan and Miss Minnie Talbot, and the co-chairmen, Marilyn Laird and Arnold Cook, the following students proved they knew something about sales talk and advertising campaigns: Edward Madden, Gordon Gerbick, Mary Pitchford, Jerry Boswell, publicity committee; Leo Noe, Bill Plunkett, Walter Petrovich, James Renn, James Ferguson, Sadie Sides, Blanche Predaina, secretary of the committee, Mildred Zivonovich, George Davis, William Charlebois, Lorraine Hammersmith, Chester Henson, Mary Finan, Joan Cage, Nina Bobrick, Doris Finch, Florence Gram, Mitzi Hunker, Nan Mack, and Shirley Kuch. Despite competition from War Bonds and Stamps, and other war funds, the class made a large enough sum to insure them a good Prom. Marilyn Laird sold the most roses, and Gordon Gerbick was runner-up.

The Prom was held on May 16 at the Masonic Temple. Needless to say, all had a good time. The Prom Committee consisted of Louis Cina, Mary McNeely, Sophie Zyha, Tim Sullivan, and James Orr, decoration committee; Tom Haslett, Wilma Lee Danskin, Beverly Pehr, and Bob Goodrich, committee on rules; Joan Kerlin, Martha Puskar, Gerald Hines, Robert Laurie, and Allen Ayres, committee on music; Bettie Beddingfield, Antonia Chiaramonte, Jack McLaughlin, Frank Irvine, Arthur Gerometta, Bob Gregor, John Hovance, Henry Sobal, Marcellina Pfeil, Carolyn Talbert, Dolores Cichowicz, Carmen Cruz, Shirley Oleska, Bertha Lodney, Eugene Roades, and Ed Thompson, committee on arrangements. Jack McLaughlin and Mrs. Greenwald were co-chairmen. Henry Kayner provided the hit tunes.

The class play was Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," with such able actors as Edward Madden and Dan Sekulovich to make it a success. See another part of this book for a further account of the play.

Trade mark of each junior class, the class rings, were selected in due time by a committee of the following: Marty Mulloy, chairman, Jeanne Anderson, Doris Icenogle, Paul Muffolletto, Mildred Roades, Merle Strasberg, Phyllis Underwood, and Charles Guemple. Miss Benschoter was the sponsor.

Chief among the outstanding athletes of this class were George Nihal, James Swan, George Nabhan, Frank Roman, Fred Schieb, Frank Irvine, Russell Bailey, George Settle, Jim Maxwell, Manuel Manos, Tim Sullivan, Elmer Eckstrom, and Henry Sobal, of the boys; Helen Dzurdzy, Mildred Zivonovich, Joan Kerlin, Mildred Roades, Mary Pitchford, Phyllis Banker, and Helen Magrames, of the girls, just to name a few.

The following were honor roll students: Louis Cina, John Eloff, Gerald Hines, Edward Madden, Paul McCoy, William Meneakis, George Nabhan, Cecil Oliver, Jim Swan, Jeanne Anderson, Bettie Beddingfield, Candida Garcia, Dorothy Gold, Ruth Heath, Mary Katherine Lieber, Mary Margaret McGuire, Martha Sabo, Gladys Surowicz, Carolyn Talbert, Mildred Zivonovich, Martin Mulloy, Florence Gram, and Helen Pikula.

No matter how good a product, it must have sponsors to help keep them on top, and the junior class is no exception. Their sponsors were Miss Grieger, chairman, Miss Talbot, Mr. Connerly, Miss Paul, Miss Tappan, Mrs. Greenwald, Miss Benschoter, Mr. Yeager, Mr. Wirt, Mr. Mowbray, and Coach Werner.

The class colors are purple and gold; the class motto is "Big oaks from little acorns grow"; the class flower is the oak leaf with the flowers of the season.

Senior Memories

Starting as pamphlets, advancing to newspaper ads, then to billboards, and now on a nation-wide hook up; that is how we may trace the progress of our present senior class. Their board of directors were Edward Lehocky, president; Spiro Cappony, vice president; Delphine Smith, secretary; Irene Kuchta, girls' treasurer; and Tom Croll, boys' treasurer.

Sponsors of this product were Miss Newton, chairman, Miss Ban, Miss Tinsman, Miss Ade, Mr. Flinn, Mrs. McCaman, Mr. Rogers, Mrs. Bessler, Mr. Connelly, and Sgt. Souders.

They organized their campaign at a meeting held on October 1, 1941. At this meeting the dues decided on were comparatively small, due to the more than successful Rose Day, which they conducted last year. Eleven thousand, one hundred and eighty-one roses were sold, the amount exceeding all previous records.

They seem to believe in doing things not only well, but as soon as possible, as evidenced by their presentation of the class play "Goodnight, Ladies" and the homecoming dance which followed it, on November 7. Both were successful due to the splendid work of members of the cast, their director, Mrs. Daley, and the committees of students which included the following: play committee George Klimis, chairman, Diane Orlich, Gloria Angotti, Richard Lee, Joe Sanok, and Tiffany Moss; dance committee, Spiro Cappony, chairman, Mary Robinson, James Dumigan, James McConnell, Peggy Nealon, Eleanor Casbon, Helen Gregor, Homer Wells, Helen Nowak, Ethel Strain, Arleigh Long, Dorothy Shennan, and Dorothy Batalis. Faculty advisers for the dance were Miss Vogt and Mr. Rogers.

Following this annual event was the Senior Post-Holiday Dance, held on January 17, 1942. Sponsor of the dance was Miss Ban. Members of the committee were Camela Stramaglia, chairman; Bob Montfort, Betty Woodward, Gloria Powlen, Violet Petrovich, Joann Landes, Don Burgess, Stanley Frankowski, Ruth Wellman, and John Karagas.

After all this fun and frolic comes the never-forgotten time, graduation, the time when this now good selling product prepares to go out and surpass all previous records. But they also want to leave behind them something that will make their past record remembered. The committee to select this memorial consisted of Matilda Helwig, chairman; Jerome Bilski, John Sheperd, Marion Menzie, Babette Shuster, Tony Abeldua, Ed Carnahan, and Joan Landes. The sponsor was Miss Tinsman. The memorial was presented on Class Day, June 5, and the class will and testament was also read on this day. Sponsor of Class Day was Mrs. McCarnan. The committee was composed of Mary Gregor, chairman; Charlene Randolph, Barbara Carlberg, Betty Turak, Lewis Simmons, Dan Simion, Dorothy Messina, Joseph Tenta, James McConnell, Eleanor Cashion, Jennie Mack, Glenn Collum, Diane Orlich, and Helen Gregor. Baccalaureate, closely followed by the commencement exercises will be vivid in our memory always. The following people did their best to make it so: Mr. Flinn, sponsor of Baccalaureate, Daisy Shabaz, chairman, and Adeline Sepiol, Phil Smith, Dan Mercer, June Romans, DeVon Cunningham, Russell Buehrle, and Tom King; Mr. Rogers and Mr. Connelly sponsors of commencement, Betty Lou Page, chairman, Arleigh Long, Bonnie Louks, and Eugene Wise.

that Will Last

Their final fling was the Senior Farewell held on June 15. A committee headed by John Paligraph, and sponsored by Miss Henrietta Newton, included Helen Minnyas, Carmela Stramaglia, Bill Mathe, Benny Bizek, Marian Plummer, George Lengyel, John Apathy, Frank Byers, Dorothy Komorowski, John Gutowski, Mary Robinson, Bob Emerson, Irene Kuchta, Delphine Smith, Mike Kane, and Chauncey Hunker.

These students have been on the honor roll every semester: Diane Orlich, Charlene Randolph, Marian Miller, Marion Menzie, Joe Tenta.

Last, but not least, salutatorian, Marian Virginia Miller, and valedictorian, Joe Louis Tenta.

Students Chose Senior Personalities

Best by Test

First row, reading down

◆ DELPHINE SMITH

A magnetic personality, a fine sport, and an able leader characterize Del to a "T." Her chain of friends holds many links. Secretary of Senior Class, Co-editor of Annual Staff, President of F.A.B., and Treasurer of G.A.A. were positions held by Del. Mmm, what a girl!

◆ EDWARD CARNAHAN

Ed showed us his great brain by playing good football all year round. With bow and arrow he proves to be a good marksman as well as a top notch hunter. Strong, silent, Ed shines in his studies as well as on the gridiron. We have it on good authority that Ed is not as harmless as he looks.

◆ MARY GREGG

Gregg I, as she is called is willing to do anything she is asked. Greg is peppy and happy-go-lucky. Everyone is captivated by her personality, and she is captured by Nelson Eddy. Annual Staff, G.A.A., and Tri Sigma kept Mary busy. She will soon be crowding the career woman list.

◆ TOM CROLL

Versatile Tom Croll, better known as "Abner," did a super job cheer leading. In moments of relaxation, Tommy listens to Glenn Miller. For his occupation, Tom has chosen to be an artist. Gene Autry is his hero and Brenda and Cobina tied as his choice for heroine. Don't blame the education system for that.

◆ DIANE ORLICH

Diane, brown-eyed and vivacious, is one of our most talented senior girls. Being a leader as well as a good follower, she led the Tri Sigma on to new heights for the year. Her talents as a singer was also established early in her high school days by her lead in the operetta, LOL, ONTIE. Her hero and heroine are Romeo and Juliet.

Second row, reading down

◆ JOHN SHEPHERD

A wise man holds his tongue and opens his ears." So might it be said of taciturn John. He is an indispensable basketball man and a high ranking member of the Senior Honor Society. His ambition is to become a doctor. His service should be in great demand.

◆ HELEN NOWAK

You can always depend on seeing dark-haired "No" at the school dances. Dick Jurgens is ever popular with her, and her dancing shows she is as smooth as he. Envyed by all the girls is her basketball technique. Her ambition is to be a seamstress and have a home. Fine forms on right, boys.

◆ JOHN PALIGRAPH

Co-captain of the football squad, "Polly" has made a great name for himself. His ever smiling face will linger in the minds of his fellow class mates. Junior Class secretary and chairman of the Senior Farewell occupied much of his time. The contemporary female population of Emerson can't understand why anyone should gaze on Charley Atlas when the Paligraph physique can be admired.

◆ IRENE KUCHTA

Irene has a steady diet of sports. There is no sport that she is not adept at. Her smooth accordion playing is captivating and makes everyone sit up and take notice. No one would want to miss Heaven after seeing Irene at the Angel in the Christmas Pageant.

◆ HERMAN DINKIN

Herman came to Emerson three years ago and has established himself securely in auditorium, parties and scholarship standing. The Rotary contest speech, "On Fair Play in Business," took a great deal of "Herm" time and energy. The R.O.T.C., and the Annual Staff are strong interests. His Chili-con-carne is his greatest dish forsaking all succulent steaks for its South American tang. Third row, reading down

◆ TIFFANY MOSS

Charm, daintiness, and amiability are attributes of Tiffany. One thing she never does is to argue, which, according to the contemporary Emerson male population, makes her unanimous choice for the ideal woman. As Mary in the Christmas Pageant she is one of the year's outstanding memories.

◆ FRANK BYERS

Byers, the lad commonly called a "Beers," has personality plus. "Beers" hopes to coach basketball at his own Alma Mummy, Emerson. Glenn Miller and his crew have "Beers" as a faithful fan. Frank would wrestle with a de-luxe fried chicken any day of the week and twice on Sunday. He likes to dance and to wolf.

◆ VIOLET PETROVICH

Violet, the suntanned, smiling, all-round he-man's girl, likes bowling, dancing, and roller skating; topped off with a good course of chicken in the rough. "Pet" is still romantic enough to read "Gone With the Wind" and envy Scarlet O'Hara. Tri Sigma, G.A.A., and Annual Staff take up Violet's school time.

◆ LEWIS SIMMONS

"Loose" a member of the honor society and R.O.T.C., likes the Philadelphia Symphony, "The Star Spangled Banner," and hamburgers. Lewis has ambitions of being state governor some day. He is an ardent baseball fan. He names Fanny May as his heroine. Pretty tough on sugar rationing, we'd say.

◆ MARIAN MILLER

Capable Marian Miller shows her wide variety of activities by being: vice president of the Senior Honor Society, girls' treasurer of A Cappella, member of Tri Sigma, Annual Staff, and Ring Committee. She chooses green for her favorite color. Marian would live in a world of happiness if she could always listen to Laurence Welk and eat hamburgers.

◆ JOE TENTA

Joe is the first and only student from Emerson to receive a scholarship to Indiana University. During this year he has held four jobs simultaneously and acted human. No mean achievement that! Joe's sense of humor never fails. He's the kind of student that teachers write home about if they write home.

◆ DOROTHY BATALIS

Dorothy rates the title of "Ace" because of her fine scholastic and athletic ability. She is tiny but mighty. Dorothy's the kind of gal who could have a date with Stirling Hayden and never mention it. Modest is our Dorothy.

◆ EDWARD LEHOCKY

"Edge" is tall, dark and dashing — hither and yon. Dancing is his hobby. His dramatic talents ought to bring Warner Brothers rattling a contract under his nose. Not the least of his talents is the ability to make friends. A good salesman too.

◆ BETTY TURAK

Betty clings to "Stardust" as her song of songs. Plays, poetry meets, and discussions took a lot of Betty's time. Her very nicest memories have their roots back in her sophomore, junior, and senior class plays. Betty's ambition is to become a nurse. While she is studying about thyroid and the other glands, some unlucky fellow will idly twiddle his thumbs.

◆ ED BURNS

Talks says that Ed Burns is about the friendliest fellow in Emerson School. In his many activities he is noted for his talent in working with people. President of the Board of Control and top man in cross country and track makes Ed one of Emerson's leading citizens.

Our Day

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a vision for the future of health care for older people, and the Department of Social Security (1999) has set out a vision for the future of social care for older people. Both visions emphasize the need to develop services that are person-centred, that are based on the needs of the individual, and that are based on the principles of partnership and collaboration.
